

WEmpower: Bridging the Gap Between Mothers and Children Through Education

A mother's illiteracy not only impedes her own growth due to limited education and financial dependency but also creates a divisive wall between her and her child. That disconnect could start with something as small as a mother unable to help her child navigate his homework or could manifest into something as large as being reduced to a secondary role in her child's life. At WEmpower, we understand this issue and have since been on a long mission to educate mothers, build leaders and bridge this gap.

Additionally, we launched an innovative student internship program aimed to develop professional skills among students and offer hands-on experience in various fields like HR, management, video editing, research and development, graphic designing, content writing etc. This initiative pairs students with dedicated mentors who guide them through multiple projects, personalized feedback and assignments.

Regular classes with mothers combined with students working closely to address the challenges that mothers face helps to tear down that looming wall and create a loving space based on mutual understanding and respect. They learn to understand each other's perspectives and experiences, ultimately helping each other to grow and thrive.

We have undertaken an incredible journey in these 6 months. From 30 + classes in the field of financial and digital literacy, English and SEL, 8+ skill building workshops, 6 successful full team meetings, 25+ student interns, 18+ mentors, it has been nothing short of extraordinary.

Our mothers and students remain the backbone of our organization. Our initiatives aim to equip them with the necessary skills and knowledge to learn and grow exponentially. Through education, mentorship and guided projects, we create opportunities to achieve success and pave the way for an empowered and equitable future for all.

Swavalambini: Empowering Women Entrepreneurs in Northeast India

The government introduced "Swavalambini," a program launched to promote women entrepreneurship and optimize women-led businesses in Assam, Meghalaya, and Mizoram. This program aims to encourage and empower women through entrepreneurial training, research, and mentorship.

Under this program, the Entrepreneurship Development Programme is offered to a selected batch of 300 female students, which covers entrepreneurial concepts such as finance, supply chains, legal compliances, etc, in a comprehensive manner. This program sets an aspirational goal of launching 10% of EDP trainees as successful entrepreneurs, empowering women to become leaders of change.

National Women's Day 2025: Celebrating the Legacy of Sarojini Naidu

National Women's Day is celebrated annually in India on February 13th - the birth anniversary of Sarojini Naidu. She was an advocate for women's rights and played a crucial role in India's struggle for independence. Naidu was the first woman to become the president of the Indian National Congress and became the first female governor of the United Provinces.

This day celebrates her remarkable journey in the field of women's empowerment, human rights, and social justice, with her work inspiring millions and leaving behind a legacy of perseverance and strength.

Interview of Student Leader "Kritika Acharya"

What was the learning experience for you, and how did it impact you?

My learning experience has been excellent. I love what I do, and I want to become more creative in my work. The things that significantly impacted me are my editing skills, communication skills, and knowledge of technology.

What are some of your goals while working in this organisation, and what do you want to achieve through this?

My goal while working in this organisation are that I want to become better at graphic designing, even as good as my leader. I think that as I grow older, I can become an expert with practice and determination. With that, I can achieve whatever I want.

Why did you choose this role? Also, tell us what are some skills you think that are required for graphic designing?

Since childhood, I have had a lot of interest in designing, so I hoped to become a graphic designer. This is my passion, and I want to become an expert in this field. Some skills that I think are required for graphic design are communication skills, creativity, and problem-solving.

Can you the most significant advantages you've gained from being part of this organisation?

"Since I've been working with the Wempower organization, I've gained various benefits. First, my leadership skills have improved significantly, which will absolutely help me in the future. Secondly, I've developed my teamwork skills. Through this experience, I've also boosted my confidence level, my communication skills with my mentors and doing a high-quality work. Additionally, I've acquired professional graphic designing skills and learned how to manage themes efficiently."

What is your most enjoyable experience in this organisation and what advice would you like to offer upcoming student leaders ?

The most enjoyable experience for me in the organization was creating a reel with our mentors. They shared their introduction and explained how Wempower works. It was engaging and informative. My advice to upcoming student leaders is to approach their work with seriousness and focus because it is their start to make a bright future. They will become successful and discover new things.

Share a challenging project experience and how you overcame it? What did you learn from it?

Through my experience, I've developed valuable skills that have helped me grow as a student leader. These include teamwork and collaboration, problem-solving and adaptability ,time management and organization and communication and interpersonal skills These skills have enabled me to communicate effectively with my mentors, lead my team successfully, and achieve our goals. I'm proud to say that I didn't face any significant challenges.

Divya- SEL mentor- Testimonial

I, Divya Vasvani, had the privilege of working as a SEL mentor. SEL is not just a task but an opportunity for exposure, life beyond accessibilities and much more than just mentoring.

The WEmpower project believes in togetherness and solidarity. It has successfully bridged the knowledge gap between mothers and education in every field. This would help them build confidence, make their own decisions and also foster their children's growth efficiently. To encourage the mentees towards SEL, they are called before every class, and constant feedback is taken to ensure continuity. If any issue is faced, they are always looked after.

It was an enduring experience for me to be part of SEL. It really motivated me when the mothers were engaging, asking about their well being, supporting one another, understanding what's being taught and most importantly, being patient.

Shaheli- HR Intern- Testimonial

WEmpower has been a wholesome journey of different learnings, experience, realizations, time management and what not.

I discovered an ocean of learning and embraced the diversity of values, learned how to work within a company, understood its values, developed leadership, punctuality, guidance etc. While working with WEmpower, I got a chance to interview and their utter determination to work had a significant impact on me. WEmpower propelled me to explore. I discovered various qualities like leadership, communication, received feedbacks that improved my performance.
